We plan to visit areas around the marsh that may host a nice variety of birds. We expect to find a variety of shorebirds and water birds (ducks, rails, bitterns, and herons), pelicans, and raptors -- as well as resident and early migrant passerines. There will likely be some hiking involved, and it could be warm, so you may want to carry a water bottle.

Trip registration opens on July 15th

Initially this event will be open only to WSO members and our field trips are free for members. Non-members are able to sign up within 14 days of the trip for a nominal fee of $10 per adult if spots remain open on trips with attendance limits. Further details about trip logistics will be sent to registrants prior to each field trip.

If you are a WSO member, you can sign up for a field trip at any time after registration opens if spots remain. Click here to log in and register for this trip.

This event will take place at Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary, which offers a variety of woodland, wetland, and lagoon habitats. Its location near the bay often helps to concentrate migrating birds. Our main focus will be finding a variety of warblers but, there will likely be other migrants present also – such as vireos, thrushes, sparrows, waterfowl, etc. Wear good walking shoes, because there will be some hiking, though leisurely.

This field trip will primarily take place at Harrington Beach State Park. If the weather cooperates, this location along Lake Michigan can offer good opportunities for viewing the fall hawk flight, but other migrants should be present also. Please note that there is a state park entrance fee. Later in the morning, we may also venture a few miles to the south to check for additional species at the Forest Beach Migratory Preserve. You may want to bring a lunch.

Trip registration opens on September 3rd.
